

For Immediate Release
July 26, 2016

Contact: K.D. King
kd.king@theedusexual.com
(832) 559-2259

PRESS RELEASE

HOUSTON, TEXAS --- Romance author K.D. King today announced the launch of “The Edusexual” – a fresh take on a sex education blog for the mature audience who loves or is curious about any and all things sexual. The online forum is an evolution of the USA Today, Happily Ever After mentioned Kinky Diva Khronicles of the same author. The inaugural blog will post on Wednesday, August 10.

The release date of the blog is no coincidence, as August marks the start of Anal Health and Pleasure month. It’s the fourth annual sex celebration and the perfect time to indulge in learning, lust and lube.

“What better way to start the blog than in the behind,” says K.D. King, the founder and lead writer of “The Edusexual.” This month, we will discuss barriers to anal sex, the magic p-spot, and pegging”

This is part of the ongoing Back to Basics series – one of the many educational sex runs on “The Edusexual.”

Please visit www.theedusexual.com for more information.

The Edusexual is a space where we learn (Educate), accept ourselves and others (Embrace), take control of our bodies and choices (Empower), and do all that we safely/legally desire (Explore).

For Immediate Release
July 26, 2016

Contact: K.D. King
kd.king@theedusexual.com
(832) 559-2259